John Keane—the fifth bishop of Richmond (1878 to 1888)—was the first of our bishops to prioritize outreach to African Americans. Less than fifteen years after the end of the Civil War, he personally said mass for and taught catechism to Richmond's African American community. Undeterred by the anti-Catholic backlash these efforts created, he also began creating schools and churches for the African American population throughout the diocese.

A Message From Commonwealth Catholic Charities

As we lift our prayers to Mary this month, we share this one from His Holiness Pope Francis. We ask for continued prayers for our clients and staff during this time of separation and isolation.

"Beloved Mother, help us realize that we are all members of one great family and to recognize the bond that unites us, so that, in a spirit of fraternity and solidarity, we can help to alleviate countless situations of poverty and need. Make us strong in faith, persevering in service, constant in prayer."
